Vit Budina makes wonderful print-in-place models of trucks and cars:

Some of them are well-made replicas of real cars, for example a Suzuki Jimny. I ones made a test print of it in 1:160 and was excited. However, being designed for print-in-place there was no possibility to paint the inside of the car. I asked Vit and he kindly permitted me to create this remix for model railway modellers. Please note that the standard license of his designs does not permit derivates, so don't follow this example without asking him.

It took same time to publish this remix by different reason and I also felt necessary to add more own contribution to it, so I made a small family driving with the car.

The glass for the windows was made using Microscale Kristal Klear (in larger scale this may not work).

Hope you enjoy this remix and can find a place for it on your model railway layout or diorama. Please give the original design a like.

Model sized for n-scale (1:160). Conversion values:

Japanese N-scale, 1:150 -> 106%

British N-scale, 1:148 -> 108%

TT-gauge, 1:120 -> 133%

HO/H0-gauge, 1:87 -> 184%

OO/00-gauge, 1:76 -> 211%

S-gauge, 1:64 -> 250%

O-gauge, 1:48 -> 333%
